

Sample questions

- 1 A test that is ordered STAT should be collected
 - As soon as possible
 - On the next collection sweep
 - When you gets to its turn
 - Only in the morning
- 2 Which is the most STAT test
 - Creatinine clearance
 - Liver function test
 - Electrolyte
 - OGTT
- 3 An unconscious patient does not have an ID band. The name on the door agrees with the requisition. What should you do?
 - Call your supervisor and ask what to do
 - Draw the blood and ask the nurse to verify the identity
 - Do not draw until the nurse has applied ID bracelet
 - Draw blood and fill out incident report form
- 4 which requisition information must match information on patient's ID band
 - Test status
 - Medical Record
 - Physician's name
 - Room number
- 5 never leave a tourniquet for more than
 - 30 sec
 - 1min
 - 2 mins
 - 3min
- 6 how many times do you mix non additive tubes
 - 0
 - 4 times
 - Gently for 20-15 times
 - 5-10 times
- 7 what may happen if you mix tubes too vigorously
 - Hemoconcentration
 - Hemolysis
 - Lipemia
 - No effect
- 8 what angle is best for needle insertion during routine venipuncture

< 15 degrees

15 – 30 degrees

35-45 degrees

Any angle is good

- 9 it is better to use gauze and not cotton balls for pressure over the site because cotton balls are not sterile may irritate the patient's skin may pull the platelet away when removed soak too little blood
- 10 the clear liquid portion of anticoagulated specimen that has been centrifuged is called
Serum
Buffy coat
Plasma
Supernatant
- 11 Primary duty of a Phlebotomist is to;
Access specimen
Collect blood specimen
Collect and document workload
Perform skin test